Health and Strength

Depend so largely on the regular action of the stomach, liver, and bowels, that any derangement of these organs is liable to be attended with serious consequences. Dyspepsia, constipation, and sluggishness of the liver, though common complaints, are conditions of the body that should have prompt and judicious treatment. The most direct, effective, and reliable medicine, in all such disorders, is Ayer's Pills. They assist digestion, regulate the bowels and liver, and act on the intestinal canal both as a tonic and cathartic.
Skillfully sugar-coated, these pills are pleasant to take, and their medicinal virtues are retained for an indefinite period.
Put up in bottles as well as boxes, they are efficacious

In All Climates

"For a long time I was a sufferer from stomach, liver, and kidney troubles, experiencing much difficulty in digestion, with severe pains in the lumbar region and other parts of the body. Having tried a variety of remedies, including warm baths, with only temporary relief, about three months ago I began the use of Ayer's Pills, and already my health is so much improved that I gladly testify to the superior merits of this medicine." —Manuel Jorge Pereira, Oporto, Portugal
"One of my customers has been greatly benefited by the use of Ayer's Pills. He was troubled with disordered liver and in falling health for several months. Since he began using Ayer's Pills he has improved greatly, gaining rapidly in health and strength."
—W. S. McCullough, Druggist, Wheeling, W. Va.
"For eight years I was afflicted with constipation, which at last became so bad that the doctors could do no more for me. Then I began to take Ayer's Pills, and soon the bowels recovered their natural and regular action, so that now I am in excellent health." —Wm. H. DeLauch, Dorset, Ontario.
"In 1853, by the advice of a friend, I began the use of Ayer's Pills as a remedy for biliousness, high fevers, and colds. They served me better than anything I had previously tried, and I have used them, with excellent effect, in attacks of that sort ever since."—H. W. Hersh, Judsonia, Ark.
"In bilious attacks, to which I am subject, I find no medicine so effective as Ayer's Pills. They always relieve me."—Charles Gambal, Smith's Ranch, Sonoma Co., Cal.

Restored By

"Some years ago I had a very severe attack of inflammation of the bowels. My physician tried every remedy he knew of to relieve me, but in vain. At my own suggestion, I took a dose of Ayer's Pills, and they worked to perfection. I have no doubt they were the means of saving my life." —Francis Williams, Strickland, Mich.
"After many years' experience with Ayer's Pills as a remedy for the large number of ailments caused by derangements of the liver, peculiar to malarial localities, simple justice prompts me to express to you my high appreciation of the merits of this medicine for the class of disorders I have named."
—S. L. Loughridge, Bryan, Texas.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. Ancker, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep 'Castoria' within easy reach."
—CARLOS MARTIN, D. D.,
New York City.
Late Pastor Bloomingdale Reformed Church.
"Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion, Without injurious medication."
"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results."

JUST FOR TO-DAY.

Lord! for to-morrow and its needs
I do not pray;
Keep me, my God, from stain of sin,
Just for to-day.

Let me both diligently work And duly pray;
Let me be kind in word and deed,
Just for to-day.

Let me be slow to do my will,
Prompt to obey;
Help me to mortify my flesh,
Just for to-day.

Let me no wrong or idle word Unthinking say;
Set Thou a seal upon my lips,
Just for to-day.

Let me in season, Lord, be grave, In season gay;
Let me be faithfully to Thy grace,
Just for to-day.

And if to-day my life Should ebb away,
Give me Thy Sacraments divine, Sweet Lord, to-day.

So for to-morrow and its needs
I do not pray;
But keep, me, guide me, love me, Lord,
Just for to-day.

Harrison Has Hay on His Horns.

The relations between President Harrison and Secretary Blaine are rapidly coming to the surface, and all doubt as to the somewhat strained attitude of the President to his Premier may be reasonably dismissed. Blaine is not playing the game for Harrison, but he may not be playing it entirely for himself. If that were his purpose, he need only throw off the mask and intimate his willingness to accept the Presidential nomination and it is at his call; but it is possible that he still dreams the dream of the Presidency for himself without the courage to accept responsibility of declaring his candidacy, and he may be remaining silent with the twofold purpose of leaving his final decision until the last day, or helping the opponents of Harrison to knock him out, if Blaine shall feel that he is equal to the contest.

After scouting round the Blaine outposts for several days, the friends of the President have finally decided that Harrison must now appear in the contest as the bull with hay on his horns, and that henceforth it must be a fight to the finish between Harrison and Blaine until Blaine shall retire or the Convention shall decide between them. It was semi-officially announced yesterday in the leading administration organ, that the friends of the President have decided to take the aggressive, and that it will be war to the knife henceforth. All idea of the President retiring to give the field to Blaine, as he offered to do some months ago before Blaine publicly declined, has been abandoned, and what has been hidden beneath the political surface for nearly a year past, is now becoming well understood by the utterances of the President. It is now an open secret that Harrison and Blaine have not been in sympathy during the last year; that the friends of each have sought to belittle the other in all our important reciprocity achievements and in the management of the Chilean trouble and that Blaine's omission to even refer to the President or administration in his letter of declination, was a deliberately conceived method to intimate his lack of confidence in his chief.

Whatever Blaine may or may not do as to the Presidency, it is now clearly established that he is playing no game for the President, and that if he shall be compelled to decline the nomination, he will prefer some other than Harrison; and Harrison, in case of his failure, would cordially reciprocate the Blaine sentiment by wishing the nomination to go to another than Blaine. They are not now in any sense close political friends. It is now known that for months past their political relations have not been in any degree confidential, and Harrison is about to take the aggressive in the warfare against the head of his Cabinet, and will pursue it until Blaine declines or is defeated by the Minneapolis Convention.

While Blaine's game is not fully understood, enough is now known to make it obvious that he is not seeking in any to advance the interests of President Harrison. On the contrary, he is not for Harrison's nomination; whether he desires it himself or not, and Harrison is not for Blaine, whether Harrison is in the race or out of it.
At last, Harrison appears in the field with hay on his horns, and unless Blaine shall speedily withdraw, a struggle of unusual bitterness will be witnessed from this time until the close of the battle in the National Convention.—Phila.
Times.

A Bald Political Fake,

Among the many desperate devices lately invented to weaken Harrison in his candidacy for re-nomination, the boldest and baldest of all is an obviously forged letter purporting to have been written by General Grant to Senator Conkling on the 2d of May, 1880. The letter is unlike Grant from beginning to end. There is not a single paragraph, or even a sentence that sounds like Grant, who was a man of singular individuality and whose sentences and epigrammatic expressions were memorable.

The evident purpose of presenting this forged letter is to strengthen the public prejudice against re-election of any President. In several of the paragraphs of this letter General Grant is made to say that he had very grave doubts as to the advisability of his accepting a second term of the Presidency, and again he is made to say: "I seriously doubt whether any man can ever be elected even for a second term unless, perchance, there should arise some extraordinary emergency."

All the dozen paragraphs of this elaborate letter, so awkwardly forged by some of the opponents of Harrison, were written to present, repeat and emphasize Grant's judgment against any man in the Presidential office receiving even a second term. The authors of this political fake seem to have forgotten that all the force of Grant's declarations against a second term must be destroyed by the fact that he not only accepted a second term but earnestly sought a third term.

The anti-Harrison people seem likely to overreach themselves by the desperation of their efforts to drive Harrison from the field.
They have precipitated an issue upon Blaine that he will probably be compelled to decide before the meeting of the convention, and when he decides it there is no likelihood that he will reach any other conclusion than that he must repeat his purpose not to accept the nomination under any circumstances.

Had they been content to await the meeting of the Minneapolis Convention by simply holding their forces in hand for any emergency that might arise, they could easily have acquired strength enough to stampede the convention to Blaine; and under such circumstances, with Blaine in no way a party to it, he could be excused for accepting the nomination in obedience to the voluntary, imperious calls of his party. Now he is hedged about by the political fake of a forged Grant letter, and by being forced into a position where he must speak for himself as a matter of justice to the President. Whatever may be accomplished by the opposition to Harrison, the one thing that must fall still-born is the silly political fake of the forged Grant letter.—Phila. Times.

A Cloud Burst.

NILES, OHIO, May 26.—A cloud burst at Kingsman, a small village two miles northwest of this city, has resulted in a flood which has caused the death of at least six persons and the destruction of a vast amount of property and stock.
A number of physicians from this city are now at the scene. The water fell in torrents from four o'clock p. m. till a few minutes after six. The small river overflowed its banks and poured its volume of water over a fertile and well-farmed country. A large dam about two miles above the village broke and a solid wall of water poured down from the river bed.
No one was warned, as all thought themselves secure.

Prohibitionists.

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 26.—The Prohibition State Convention was held here to-day. Ninety delegates attended, representing twenty-two of the thirty-four counties in the State. The Prohibitionists feel the necessity for the union of white people of South Carolina and will work entirely within the ranks of the Democratic or white party.
Joel Branson, Grand Chief Tem-plar of the independent Order of Grand Templars, was made chairman and various Committee were appointed.

If there is anything more absurd in the life history of the emperor of Germany than the rigging out of of his little ten-year-old son in the uniform of an officer of the Imperial Guards and permitting him to swagger along, diminutive sword in hand, at the head of a company of marching giants, it has mercifully been concealed from the human race,

Liquor, Opium, and Tobacco.

SAFE AND SPEEDY CURE.—

For abnormal and uncontrollable ap-ment to the severest tests, and made under as many varied conditions as possible, it has proven entirely satisfactory, and is pronounced by those competent to judge to be the safest and most agreeable treatment in use.

VERY DEPARTURE FROM—old beaten paths meets with serious, stubborn opposition. Jenner found violent enemies to vaccination. Harvey nearly lost his life by discovering and announcing the circulation of blood.

So the "Gold Cure" for the Liquor, Opium and Tobacco habit, is being seriously combated; but it has science on its side, and has accomplished successes that are incontrovertible, and thousands of those whom its treatment has enfranchised from the thrall of Liquor, Opium and Tobacco, bear testimony daily to their restoration to health, strength, normal appetites and effective will power.

IF THERE IS ANYTHING IN—medicines as antidotes for diseases—and that there is, science has long since established and nature substantiated—then why should this particular antidote for the liquor, opium and tobacco habit be combatted at all; and this, too, in the face of its most wonderful accomplishments of desired results.
